NEW MUSEUM COLLECTION

The museum is creating a new collection about the History of Plainsboro Immigrants and Multicultural Families. This collection will tell the important story of the multicultural families who have moved to Plainsboro in the last fifty years.

We need your help to build this collection and enable the museum to accurately exhibit our community's unique history!

Share your objects, photographs, written stories and memories that reflect immigration and multiculturalism in Plainsboro.

We are accepting donations for this collection by appointment at the museum. Contact us to set up an appointment to drop off items or to be interviewed.

Do you have objects, documents and/or photographs that help tell the story of Plainsboro's history and development? Please consider donating them to the museum! Email us for more information.

September 18: Museum Activities during Founder's Day

A temporary museum exhibit will open at the museum on Founder's Day, titled John V. B. Wicoff's Study: An Immersive Interpretation. Set up inside one of the museum rooms, this exhibit will show what his study may have looked like in the early 1900s, during the time that the Township of Plainsboro was established.

A new oral history video will debut at the museum, featuring interviews with local residents who share their experiences in Plainsboro. Museum visitors will also have the opportunity to record themselves speaking about their own Plainsboro memories!

September 26: Plainsboro Historic Walking Tour & Community Event

Enjoy crafts, refreshments and new museum exhibits at the Wicoff House! Groups will leave the museum on bike or foot to complete the new Plainsboro Historic Walking Tour, developed over the past year by Sanskriti Ramji of the museum Youth Advisory Council. Check the museum website for more information, or email to register for the event: museum@plainsboronj.com.
